

Fabric Projection Screens are easy to set up and use: Just pull them out of the bag and rig 4 points to stretch out the shape and project! Here the screens serve as set décor for a tv news show in small studio

This 20' x 30' Projection Screen suspended from 4 points shows just how well a live feed looks at an event. At the AIA show, the opening session and all keynotes used this stage, which the lighting designer maximized by a manipulating light and projection to achieve a variety of looks.

Projection Screens created quite a stir at the Boston Tea Party location For Illuminale Boston08. At this event, the screens acted as projection surfaces and shadow screens.

In the daytime you can see how these Projection Screens cover the space. At night, the space was dramatically transformed when the gymnasium magically morphed into a ballroom for fundraising event.
